

time, and I commend our colleagues for bringing this very important resolution to the floor. As I was listening to the debate on the suspensions upstairs, I was personally at first pleased, saddened, a whole mixture of emotions to hear that there was going to be a tribute to those who fought at the Battle of the Bulge, because I cannot remember a time in my whole childhood or growing up that that was not a source of sadness and pride to our family.

□ 1630

My father's brother, John D'Alesandro, died at the Battle of the Bulge; and it was a source of great sadness for our family, for his children. But then the good news was that he received the Purple Heart. Well, that was a scary notion to a child all those years growing up. The Purple Heart? What did that mean? But it meant a wonderful thing about his bravery. So to think that all these many years later when all of us thought that we had to keep the memory alive because of our personal relationship, that this Congress would come here today to recognize those many, many, many people who fought so bravely, who have protected our freedom, who made the supreme sacrifice and those who were willing to make that sacrifice.

I greatly thank our colleagues for what they are doing today, and I can speak firsthand for what it means to so many families across America.

Mr. SHOWS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 5055 to authorize a memorial in Arlington National Cemetery Honoring the World War II veterans who fought in the Battle of the Bulge. I urge my colleagues to join in supporting its passage.

The Battle of the Bulge is one of the most famous battles in American military history. In the weeks leading up to the Christmas of 1944, it appeared to the Western Allies that victory over the German Army was near at hand. Since the Allied Landings of D-Day, the German forces were pushed back across the French countryside. By autumn, the Allies had liberated significant portions of Belgium and the Netherlands. It appeared that one final push was all that was needed to force a total collapse of German resistance on the western front and lead to the invasion of the German homeland.

What the Allied commanders were not aware of was the fact that the German dictator was planning one final, desperate offensive. For weeks the German military had been building up its limited stocks of fuel and ammunition. By mid December 1944, they were prepared to launch one final offensive through the Ardennes Forest, in the hopes of splitting the Allied lines and driving to the English Channel.

The German attack came as a near total surprise, and achieved initial success. Poor weather prevented Allied air superiority from being brought to bear, and the German panzers took full advantage of the respite. Yet, in the end, the offensive failed.

The offensive failed because American soldiers shook off their initial shock and fought with a stubborn tenacity to prevent a German breakthrough. The Allied lines gave way, hence the "Bulge" description, but refused to break. After several days, the weather cleared, and the overwhelming Allied advantage in tactical air power could finally be brought to bear in a concentrated counterattack.

This resolution permits the placement of a marker honoring those veterans who fought in the Battle of the Bulge in Arlington National Cemetery. These veterans put up a tenacious defense, in horrible conditions, against an enemy with superior armored forces. Their success in halting the German Ardennes offensive preserved the Allied lines, and helped to maintain the pressure on Germany's military. After the Battle of the Bulge, the German effort on the western front was finished. Within six months, Germany had surrendered.

The efforts of our veterans in the Battle of the Bulge, like those of all Americans who fought against tyranny in World War II, deserve our recognition and respect. I urge my colleagues to join in supporting this measure, which honors the contributions of the veterans of the Bulge to the Ultimate victory of freedom over tyranny during the Second World War.

Mr. REYES. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 5055. This measure authorizes the placement in Arlington National Cemetery of a memorial to honor our brave World War II veterans who fought in the Battle of the Bulge. In particular I thank Chairman CHRIS SMITH and Ranking Member LANE EVANS, as well as MIKE SIMPSON, the Chairman of our Benefits Subcommittee for their strong support for this important bill.

Mr. Speaker, my father-in-law, Victor Gaytan, fought at the Battle of the Bulge. I am very pleased this memorial will honor him and his comrades who fought bravely during that difficult battle.

As Field Marshal Montgomery said, the Battle of the Bulge "was definitely one of the most difficult in which I have been able to participate and the stakes were considerable." Arlington is a fitting place to honor these brave veterans, those that returned as my father-in-law did, as well as those who made the ultimate sacrifice.

I am pleased to support this measure. I urge all members to support the bill.

Mr. MORAN of Kansas. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this measure.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

There was no objection.
